

BEAUTY

At Feet of My People, we believe cruelty-free products are a beautiful thing. We've gathered some of our favorite brands below, many who are Leaping Bunny or PETA certified as cruelty-free. This means there was no animal testing at any point during production, no animal testing from their suppliers, and no distribution in mainland China. We also strongly recommend that you look at (and bookmark!) one of our favorite resources, Cruelty-Free Kitty. Their amazing site is incredibly comprehensive, allowing you to search for specific brands to see if they are cruelty-free. They've also compiled an exhaustive list of verified cruelty-free brands. If you're new to this journey of ethical and compassionate shopping, their cruelty-free 101 tab is an excellent starting point for beginners.

FASHION

With gorgeous alternatives to leather, suede, fur, wool, down, feathers, pearls, and silk readily available at a great price, it's time for vegan, animal-free fashion to lead the way to a new way of shopping and living that does not have animal cruelty at its foundation.

Trending this season and every season: compassionate clothing. Ditch the leather, suede, fur, wool, down, feathers, pearls, silk, and any other clothing that cost an animal its life or its dignity. There are countless alternatives to these cruel forms of fashion, in every style and every price range. We've curated some of the most gorgeous, vegan, and animal-free fashion brands to get you inspired. Step out in clothing that is as ethical as it is stunning. You'll be more than a trend-setter. You'll be setting the tone for compassionate, educated, and sustainable shopping, and there's no look more daring than that.

FOOD

Everything on this list is 100% dairy free, 100% animal free and 100% vegan (unless noted otherwise)

You don't have to compromise good taste to have an animal-free plate. For every food product that relies on animals or animal by-products, there is a delicious, cruelty-free alternative. We've gathered a list of incredible companies who are committed to tasty and healthy food that is as kind to the planet and animals as it is kind to our bodies. Everything on this list is 100% dairy free, animal free, and vegan (unless noted otherwise). We guarantee you'll find some new favorites staples on this list!

Almost every website here has a store locator
